WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The President's gold bond message has divided the Democratic party into irreconcilable factions. on Monday next The message may not come from the Ways and Means Committee of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and there is no question that it will never be reported from the Senate Finance Committee. It was discussed by Mr. Wilson's committee to-day, and the impossibility of securing an authorization for gold bonds was quickly discussed. Only two members, Chairman. closed. Only two members, Chairman Wilson and Mr. Bynum, both Demo-Mr. Bynum even questioned the wisdom of a thirty-year bond. The Republicans wer united in opposition, and Mr. Reed de several short speeches against any change in the redemption terms of the Government bonds.

Mr. Wilson suggested that the $62. might be transformed into gold bonds bearing 3 per cent. interest, without giving authority for any additional bonds of that character. But the Republicans wouldn't think of it. Mr. Reed said: "I don't believe in borrowing gold by bonds payable after thirty years when, according to the Secretary of the Treasury, we are soon to have a surplus in the Treasury."

Mr. Bynum proposed to amend the act of 1876, so as to authorize the issue of bonds bearing not exceeding 3 per cent interest, and payable in gold coin. An informal vote was taken, but several members did not vote, and those who responded "Yes" or "No" in chorus were not noted.

The discussion was confined practically to these two propositions. Four out giving authority for any additional part of the committee as was the bond bill.

By the Democratic friends of the President it was argued that Congress was confronted with the specific question of saving to the Government $16,000,000. The Republicans contended that a thirty-year loan, to meet what the Administration, according to the construction of its utterances, represents to be a temporary necessity, was inadvisable. They questioned the policy of negotiating with individual financiers for bond issues, and advocated a popular loan of short term bonds in small denominations which could be taken by the people of the country.

The President in his message does not give the exact amount of the bonds to Letective striffin was put on the case. From Hancock Md., the officer had to drive fifteen miles through the blizzard and over mountain roads to get to Hoopengardner's caloin.

Two brothers of the man wanted were found on the first floor of the cabin. They tried to reach their ritles hanging on the wall, but the detective 'got the drop' and handcuffed them.

John Hoopengardner was on the second floor. He jumped from a window and tried to get into the mountain brosh. Griffin went ented in the difference, or $2.80.340.

Active preparations are making at the Treasury Department to carry out the contract. A new design for the bonds has been made, and the work of engraving the plate is now in progress. Although it is not expected that the plate will be completed ready for printing the bonds for some weeks, the delivery of the gold is expected to begin almost immediately. In exchange for deposits at the New York Sub-Treasury the Assistant Treasure will be instructed to pay out Treasury certificates of deposit, which will be taken up on delivery of the bonds.

The price named is the same as that which the dual syndicate fixed, plus expenses of transfer. This last named enables the bond parcellers to make various prices to various takers. One expectation was that the syndicate would fix an American price at a figure to cover the transfer of the same amount of gold from Europe. This would make the prices here and abroad on the same rate. It is not likely that such a plan will prevail, or that the syndicate will exact any commission on their local placements of the bonds.

There is a pool forming among the local banks to take $50,000.00 of the bonds. The banks already named in the pool are the City, the Park, the Hanover, the Fourth National, the Chase, the American Exchange, the Bank of Commerce and the First National. These banks are the heavy specie holders among the city institutions. According to yesterday's Clearing-House exhibit they held specie as follows:
